ABOUT THE PROJECT

R.I.S.T.o.VET – “Rural Innovative Sustainable Tourism for VET” project (project number 2019-1-PL01-KA202-065682) is funded by the European Commission through the Erasmus+ programme (KA2, strategic partnership for vocational education and training) and it aims to develop, structure and share professional knowledge about local - based sustainable tourism 4.0, with European VET providers and educational institutions that will be involved in a professional training and self-training process in order to face the challenges of contemporary tourism

OBJECTIVES

- To develop, structure and share the professional knowledge about local-based sustainable tourism 4.0.
- To involve European VET providers and educational institutions in a professional training and self-training process in order to face the challenges of contemporary tourism.
- To design, develop and test a training path in order to be deliverable both for online and face-to-face education.
- To extrapolate models from local best practices in the involved countries.
- To test the learning tools - online and offline - and to deliver them as the first European-based educational toolkit for sustainable local-based tourism 4.0, available for future tourism professionals and tourism professionals who want to update their competences.

ACTIVITIES

- To design an innovative training path for Tourism VET education that will be available both for offline and online learning.
- To create a shared, European-based, toolkit grounded in best practices developed by small businesses in the field of local-based sustainable digital tourism.
- To develop a shared methodology to systematise the practice-based knowledge of small tourism businesses in order to make it operational for VET education.

RESULTS

- Analysis of existing data about tourism, new form of hospitality and promotion of local identities, digital tourism in the local contexts of partners.
- Training path definition, development of educational units and piloting process.
- Development of an e-learning platform; Organisation of webinars for testing the e-learning platform
